

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name Ms Toshie Miyazaki
Current position Professor, Department of Global Management Studies, The University of Nagano, Japan

EDUCATION / QUALIFICATIONS

HIGHER EDUCATION

2008 - 2013 Tokyo Metropolitan University, Japan
PhD in nursing science
1999 - 2001 St. Luke's College of Nursing, Japan
MS in nursing science

PREVIOUS EMPLOYER

April 2016 - March 2018 Professor, School of Nursing, Saku University, Japan
April 2008 - March 2016 Associate Professor, School of Nursing, Saku University, Japan
October 2005- March 2008 Lecturer, Toho University, Japan
April 2002- September 2005 Assistant, St. Luke's College of Nursing, Japan

RECENT PUBLICATIONS

Toshie Miyazaki, Kayoko Kawahara (2018). Structure of the Strategies Used by Public Health Nurses in Japan for Developing Health Programs: A Causal Model of Activities and their Outcomes. Journal of Japan Academy of Community Health Nursing 21(2), 4-13. (Japanese)

Akiko Yoda, Toshie Miyazaki, Takiko Hosoya, Naoko Tomoyasu, Fumie Soyano (2018). Change Experienced by Local People Who Participated in Management of a Farmer's Market. Saku University Journal of Nursing, 10(1), 25-34. (Japanese)

Taichi Sakai, Junko Omori, Kazuko Takahashi, Yasuko Mitsumori, Maasa Kobayashi Wakanako Ono, Toshie Miyazaki, Hitomi Anzai, Miya Saito (2016). Developing a scale to measure "attachment to the local community" in late middle aged individuals. Japanese Journal of Public Health. 63(11), 664-674. (Japanese)

Junko Omori, Yasuko Mitsumori, Maasa Kobayashi, Wakanako Ono, Hitomi Anzai, Kazuko Takahashi, Toshie Miyazaki, Taichi Sakai, Mika Saito (2014). Concept Analysis of "Attachment to the Local Community" for Public Health Nursing. Japanese Journal of Public Health Nursing. 3(1), 40-48. (Japanese)

Toshie Miyazaki, Kayoko Kawahara (2013). A Study of the Construct Held by Public Health Nurses in Conceiving a Project Development Strategy. Japanese Academic Nursing Science 33(3), 82-90. (Japanese)

Asahara Kiyomi, Kobayashi Maasa, Ono Wakanako, Todome Hiromi, Konishi Emiko, Miyazaki Toshie (2012). Ethical Issues in Practice: A Survey of Public Health Nurses in Japan, Public Health Nursing. 29(3).266-275 (USA)

FUNDING

2018 – 2021: Competencies specific to nurses as practitioners in regional community: Business administrative ability to develop sustainable areas, Grants-in-Aid for Scientific Research by Japan Society for the Promotion of Science

2011 – 2014: The systematization and its application of strategy to create health programs by CBPR and Business Administration, Grants-in-Aid for Scientific Research by Japan Society for the Promotion of Science